RIDING TO THE MILL.

When Jenny rode to mill with me The daisies bared their boson The spring winds rumpled every tree And stirred a storm of blossom The squirrels scampered from the hedge

The cows were in the clover; The lilies rimmed the river's edge And dusky doves flew over. The white road seemed to welcome us.

By shaken dewdrops dented; The groves with song were tremulous By lovely violets scented.

The mad wind seemed to envy all The curls beneath her bonnet, And let the dew-dashed blossoms fall In twinkling showers on it. How well the way old "Milton" knew

In all the springtime weather; His back was broad enough for two, And so-we rode together! He loitered in the light and song :

He knew the spell that bound me, And that the way was never long While Jenny's arms were round me The rose had then no cruel them To mar the moment's blisses; The miller took his tell in corn,

And I took mine in kisses. But time has left us far apart : Yet, though the years are many; The dear old road runs round the hear

THE CREDIT SYSTEM. Industrial vorld. Why do merchants encourage the credit system? You answer that you don't. Yes, but you do. If the system were jut encouraged by the merchants it would not be in existence in winter if he wants to? Just because to-day. Dd you ever stop to think that the mercantile community of the country are the only body of men that is not intoxic ating. Too much Ohio river tolerate the credit system. Go to the refused to be buildozed. heater and you nay your money Express compilates demand cash, and railroad tickets are cash on delivery to the purchaser. Why should not the merchant demand and receive? Simply because he encourages the credit system. It may be an impossibility to completely eradicate the sys tem, but strict limitation on credit is a step on the right road, and its evolution will be practically a cash system of doing business. It is worth a trial and should be begun at once. It would quickly spread like measles in a country school and when it does it will solve the great problem for all time. When sifted down it would be

"I told you about the saddle they bought, just before I sold out, didn't 1? No? Then I must. They come yourthings and go home.' into the store, and Mrs. Lurvey asked to look at saddles. Of course 1 thought it was for herself, so I brought out a woman's saddle. She shook her head.

"'I want a man's saddle. It's for my husband.'

"So I took them out into the back shop where there was a lot hanging up. She looked them over, might go or stay, as she chose, but he asked the price of this, found fault with that, and, finally, picked out the poorest and cheapest of the lot. It was a shame, too, for the Lurveys were well to-do folks, and it's cheapest in the long run to buy good leather. 'Mayhap your husband might like to see the saddle, before you pay for it,' I said, pitying the shame-faced little man. "'Why, don't you know Mr. Lurvey? He always depends on my judgement. This is my husband,' drawing him forward, as if he had been a bashful bop. 'Make a bow, Mr. Lurvey.' "He didn't come into the shop again while I owned it, he was that ashamed, or else that shrew of his wouldn't let him come to the village alone. MISS ROSA WISS PASSES THE FIRE OF EXAMINATION CREDITABLY. lackson Cor. to the Commercial-Appeal. The State board of health licensed eight of the fourteen applicants exammed. Mississippi now has a regularly licensed woman physician in the person of Dr. Rosa Wiss, of Meridian; She is the first Mississippi woman applying for license. From a member of the board it is learned that she stood a most creditable examination. She is a graduate of the Industrial Institute and College at Columbus and of a woman's college in Philadelphia. It is understood that Dr. Wiss's practice will be principally with women and children. The doctors hope that the example set by Dr. Wiss may be followed by other women. They contend there is a class of practice a woman is better fitted for than men, and instead of feeling any jealousy over this new step of the women they hail it with unfeigned delight. Dr. Wiss will remain in Meridian. Dr. W. F. Hyer, one of the prominent members of the State board of health and a prominent citizen of Meridian, predicts great success for Dr. Wiss.

WHAT THE SOUTH WANTS.

Knoxville Tribune. The South wants immigrants, but not idlers; it has enough of the latter now. It has thousands of acres of cultivated-land that can be bought at low prices. In the matter of climate, of productiveness of soil under proper cultivation, in variety and value of its resources and in the opportunities it offers in the various lines of industry to the enterprising, industrious citizens, the south is the superior of any section of the country, It wants immigration, but there is no welcome for any but American citizens who respect the law and the flag. No idlers, agitators, anarchists and breeders of strife are wanted.
